ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, February 5.—The Pall Mall Gazette of this evening announced that it has seen an early copy of the Queen's speech, which is to be delivered at the opening of Parliament to-morrow. It thereupon proceeds to give the annexed abstracts of the contents of the document. "The Queen," says the Pall Mall Gazette, "congratulates Parliament and the country that her relations with the nations of Europe are of the most friendly character." Considerable space is devoted to the subject of the Alabama claim, upon which the Queen says: "To uphold the sanctity, and to extend the area of my International obligations, I have concluded a treaty with the United States of America, for the settlement of the questions which have been discussed for years. It having become obvious that the horrors of war are avoided by a peaceful arbitrament, instead of the arbitrament of the sword, I have, therefore, given my consent to a reference of the Alabama Claims to an international tribunal, the highest authority to which their decision could have been intrusted. Through a pardonable oversight on the part of negotiators, claims were not limited to direct loss, and therefore the President of the United States preferred a considerable amount of indirect claims, to many of which my government has demurred. I hope the amount to be ultimately defrayed will not exceed the French payment to Germany."

The Queen deplores the troubles in India, felicitates parliament upon the condition of the finances of the country and the collection of an unprecedented revenue, refers to the peaceable state of Ireland, and promises an introduction of bills in relation to the ballot, for the regulation of mines, the acquisition of railways by the State, and for regulation of licenses for the sale of liquor.

The International Revenue Bureau has decided that revenue officers of producing districts are not entitled to commissions on tobacco shipped to other districts for export, and subsequently withdrawn, and the taxes paid.

Senate—Ransom's credentials as Senator from North Carolina were presented and referred to the Committee on Elections.

The day was consumed in the discussion of Sumner's civil rights amendment, without reaching a vote.

A motion to substitute the last House bill for the pending bill. Lost by a vote of 19 to 41.

Mr. Carpenter then offered a substitute for Sumner's Civil Rights Amendment, striking out all allusions to churches and jurors and applying only to inns, corporations, etc., maintained at public expense. A bitter personal discussion followed between Sumner and Carpenter.

Mr. Sumner said Carpenter was acting as a champion of Caste and striking a blow at the colored men in church and in the courts.

Mr. Carpenter replied that Sumner did not care for a Civil Rights bill unless it violated the Constitution.

Mr. Vickers presented a memorial from a large number of Baltimore business firms, asking the repeal of the duty on salt, which was referred to the Finance Committee.

Mr. Kellogg presented a petition received by telegraph, from the principal rice merchants of Louisiana, setting forth that the abolition of the duty on that article will be ruinous to the rice interests of Louisiana. He moved that it be referred to the Committee on Finance; but Mr. Edmunds objected to setting the precedent of receiving telegraphic petitions, and it was, therefore, withdrawn.

House—A new amnesty bill, requiring that all relieved be requested to take the oath of allegiance. Passed. It excludes all persons who resigned from the army, navy or Congress.

The balance of the day was occupied with filibustering over the new drawing for seats.

MISSOURI.

ST. LOUIS, February 5.—The tender, baggage car and three passenger cars of the Washington accommodation train, on the Missouri and Pacific Railroad, were thrown from the track this morning and tumbled down an embankment, three mile west of Meramac. Some sixty passengers were on the train; about half of whom were more or less injured but none fatally. The accident was caused by a misplaced rail.

PENNSYLVANIA.

MAUCH CHUNK, February 5.—The coroner's jury in the Lehigh Valley Railroad accident, rendered a verdict that the deceased came to their deaths by an unavoidable and unforeseen accident, caused by the breaking of a rail.

SPAIN.

MADRID, February 5.—An investigation has led to the discovery that the disturbances of Carthagena, and elsewhere, were instigated by the Carlists, and Republicans, and many members of that organization are now under arrest.

Subscriptions have been opened here to aid the people of France in the payment of the war indemnity to Germany.

The Captain-General of Cuba sends a reassuring dispatch to the Government. He says he has just made a journey through the disaffected districts of the Island, and declares that from personal observation he is certain that the insurrection will be ended by March or April. He makes a requisition for only two thousand fresh troops from Spain, with which he promises to bring the war to a triumphant conclusion.

NOON DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, February 6.—The new iron ferryboat Fulton sprung a leak in the middle of the stream and sunk. The passengers were rescued.

A Herald dispatch, dated London 5th, says the Times of Monday is turning. It also says the treaty of Washington has become inoperative, is not being based on a perfect understanding between the parties concerned. It is with the utmost reluctance, says the Times, that we contemplate the possibility of a reference of the claims to a board of arbitration will come to nothing satisfactorily. An answer from Washington excluding the claims for indirect damages from the case cannot be anticipated.

The Herald's cable from London says the Queen's speech, so far as it relates to the Alabama Claims will be short, friendly and general in terms.

A bill to abolish the Polynesian Coolie slave trade will be introduced in parliament this session.

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, February 6.—Governor Warmoth was before the Congressional Investigation Committee nearly five hours today. After protesting against the interference of the committee in State and Governmental affairs, he read a voluminous document, giving a brief history of his administration. The Governor did not succeed in showing that his administration had been just and wise. He did not fail to make a strong case against his political opponents, especially the leading Republicans of the coalition.

He charged that all the laws which they now claimed were odious were mostly formed and supported by them in the Legislature.

All the city and State courts and the Congressional Investigating Committee have agreed to hold no session on Mardi Gras Day, the 13th. The display promises to be the grandest ever known in this country. The Mystic Crew of Comus will appear in a grand allegorical procession. The Grand Duke Alexis and suite have timed their visit so as to be here during the carnival. Guests from all parts of the country are already flocking to the city.

ENGLAND.

A full report of the decisions of the Supreme Court is furnished to THE CONSTITUTION exclusively, by the Reporter of the Court.

☞ Thiers is reported to have said that a Republic cannot exist in France. Thiers always has been an advocate of monarchy, and secret friend of the Bourbons.

"Great Cry and Little Wool."

This seems to be the condition of the blustering bullpalaver between this country and England. The gust will blow over and leave the parties as mild as sucking doves.

The Public Laws,

THE CONSTITUTION office is prepared to supply orders for the Public Laws of Georgia, passed at the November session, with an appendix containing Court Calendar, the Government of Georgia, etc. Price per pamphlet, $1. Apply at the business office.

☞ Warmouth and Carter have made friends in Louisiana. This is a lame conclusion of a venomous contest that imperilled the peace of the State. They shook hands pleasantly, and took a drink together. These dog fights always were comical things.

The Supreme Bench.

There seems to be a very general public desire for some good man to be appointed to fill the Supreme Bench vacancy. Good material can be obtained from the large portion of the bar not laboring under disabilities. The illness of Judge Warner prevents the session of the court that should be now progressing, and it may be possible that his feeble condition resulting from his severe sickness may render it imprudent for him to resume the arduous duties of the bench right away. A heavy docket is demanding attention while the regular term is fast slipping off. The court may get so behind-hand as to be unable to catch up even with a continuous session. It would be unfortunate for the decision to pass unimproved, as the business would get beyond the control of the court.

Under all these circumstances, we think we do not exaggerate the public wish as to the importance of the matter, when we represent that nothing would more meet a great public necessity than the filling of the vacancy of the Supreme Bench, in order that that tribunal can resume its labors immediately.

The Griffin, Monticello and Madison Railroad.

The Griffin papers state that work is progressing on this road. The survey is completed. Fifteen miles are nearly graded. The subscription installments are being paid up. Iron will be bought immediately to lay the first ten miles. At a meeting at Monticello Mr. J. C. Kimball was unanimously elected Superintendent of the road. The Griffin Star very justly says:

"Mr. J. C. Kimball was elected Superintendent by a unanimous vote, but up to this time he has not accepted, owing to the recent failure of his brother. We hope he may be induced to accept the position, as he is a practical railroad man, of clear head and sound judgment, to whose character there never has attached the slightest suspicion of wrong dealing. He is an indefatigable worker and a poor man. He intends to stay in Georgia and work out for himself a reputation to be proud of, notwithstanding the misfortunes of his brother, with whom he never accepted any business relations except as an employee. Mr. K. has gone over the line of road several times, and does a great deal towards starting the enterprise."

Atlanta and LaGrange Railroad—Letter from Judge Lang.

ADAIRSVILLE, GA., January 27, 1872.

Captain W. D. Chipley:

DEAR SIR— * * * * I can scarcely say that no overtures have been made to control the Atlanta and West Point Railroad, but can say that no proposition of that kind has been favorably entertained, or could be, by the authorities of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad Company. So far as they have considered, propositions from other interests have not contemplated any exclusive control, but only desired friendly harmonious. We have no unfriendly feeling toward the Central Railroad Company, or the interests connected with it, but I am certain in the opinion that no disposition of the Atlanta and West Point Railroad is likely to be made that would interfere with a fair business connection with your road at LaGrange, when your road reaches that point.

I scarcely know what to believe now-a-days in the shape of railroad associations. We are, for the decidedly of opinion that the best policy, about the interest of the South Carolina road is all such. So I am informed by those who ought to know.

Yours, etc., JOHN P. KING.

The above letter we clip from the Columbus Sun.

The Augusta Chronicle, in spite of Judge King's statement, reiterates its belief in the reported lease of the South Carolina Road.

Newspaper Success.

We are left to follow in the round of the papers. Since the war the London Daily News has made great strides in consequence of the superiority of its war correspondence. Lately it had thirty-eight columns of advertisements.

Thirty-eight columns of advertisements is certainly a big thing. But somehow to our arithmetic we can beat that in Georgia. THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION has frequently, of late, published daily from three to five columns of new advertisements. [illegible] We remembered that Atlanta is hardly the thousandth part of New York. It will at once be seen that the proportion is largely in favor of our wide Georgia paper. Atlanta knows the value of printer's ink, and appreciates the importance of advertising. We wish that the contagion might spread Thomsonward."—Augusta Dispatch Journal.

The above compliment was paid to THE CONSTITUTION last year, but was mislaid at that time. It turned up a few days since, just as a rush of advertisements is rewarding us of the "good old days." Sunday we published between three and four columns of new advertisements; yesterday we published some five columns, and to-day about the same. But we are sorry to say that our business rates positively do not "approach the proportions of [illegible] way. This explains why so many merchants in Atlanta are utterly obscure in the columns, while others in each branch of business have an immense local circulation and growing rich. THE CONSTITUTION have no complaint to make—it gets about all the advertising that is done; but the terrible disproportion of advertising done recently by the Atlanta business men is a shame upon their heads. [illegible] for complaint.

The Weekly Constitution

The delay of the Senate in taking action on the amnesty bill is the subject of comment here, and occasions unfavorable comment even in extreme Radical quarters. The President recommended amnesty in his message, and the Radical [illegible] country has advocated it with much earnestness; and yet, such men as Morton, Conkling and Pool are able to thwart the [illegible] wishes of the President, and of the most influential organs of the party. This delay, however, listens more to the detriment of the Radical party than otherwise, and it is conceded by leading men of that party that it would be extremely bad politic to enter upon the Presidential campaign without removing the ban of proscription now resting on a large class of the Southern people. The question then arises, does Grant really want amnesty, or is he playing false? It is singular, to say the least, that on this question, as on that of civil service reform, his accredited spokesmen in the Senate have acted in direct opposition to the recommendations contained in the message. Their opposition to the investigations of the New York custom house injured Grant considerably through the country, and their procrastination with regard to the amnesty bill must also militate against the administration. Yet, day after day slips by, burdened with its two Senatorial speeches, and apparently we are no nearer a vote now than when the debate began. When Nye exhausts his stock of rigmarole jests and "effectuary and Morton ceases to pour out his coarse invective, Mr. Sumner comes to the rescue with a batch of letters and petition which he reads until the Senate is forced to adjourn to escape the dire infliction. The other day he read a letter from a negro, complaining that he couldn't go to the Thomas concert at Lincoln Hall because there was no place set apart for colored people; and he even read a letter from the President of the Georgia Civil Rights Association, which has its headquarters at Augusta, in which the Senator from Massachusetts was thanked for the Globe and a copy of one of his speeches, and was urged to push his supplemental civil rights bill; that the negroes might be made happy. Mr. Sumner prefaced his reading of this important document with the remark that there was "no Senator from Georgia to speak for the Civil Rights Association" and slily dig at Senators Norwood and Hill, which these gentlemen treated with silent contempt.

Yesterday Senator Carpenter made a very curious and contradictory speech, in which he took both sides of the amnesty question; and after declaring Mr. Sumner's bill unconstitutional, he offered a substitute which is quite as objectionable though more deftly worded. The Senate has adjourned till Monday, having accomplished absolutely nothing during its few days sitting this week.

A GLEAM OF SUNSHINE.

In the course of this debate in the Senate some noble and manly words have been uttered by the Democratic minority. The speech of Hon. Eli Saulsbury, of Delaware, was a fine effort; and I quote from it the following passages, in which will be found a reference to Georgia. Said Mr. S. in reference to the amnesty bill:

"What is meant [illegible] Carolina [illegible] What is meant [illegible] Georgia [illegible] The people have to bear the load imposed upon the State through the corruptions of such men."

MRS. WHARTON.

Having paid a flying visit to Baltimore this week, I found the Wharton trial was still the engrossing topic of conversation in that city. The result of the trial is far from satisfactory to Baltimorians, a large majority being firmly impressed with the belief that Gen. Ketchum died from the effects of poison administered by Mrs. Wharton. She is yet to be tried for an alleged attempt to poison a young man named Van Ness, formerly her business agent, and it is said no exertions will be spared to secure conviction. This may savor of persecution, but if you could hear the gossip which circulates in Balt more you would not wonder at the state of feeling on the subject. The second trial does not take place until April, and it is understood Mrs. Wharton has taken lodgings at Annapolis, to wait that event. It is something in her favor that her counsel and their families believe her to be a deeply wronged and innocent woman, but they stand almost alone in this respect.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE FAIR SEX.

It may seem incredible that our taciturn, and far from handsome President should figure in the role of a gay Lothario, yet it is even so. I don't know that I should have ventured to tread on such delicate ground, had not the correspondent of a New York paper anticipated me to some extent. Says this writer:

Plots and counter-plots are constantly being created. Women are participants in these—the Republicans have introduced them as instruments of the spy system. The par ty in power is rent asunder by jealousies and rivalries. The leading men speak of each other as rogues and traitors; and each has a "lady friend" who can be relied upon to procure secret information. These instruments of designing politicians are dangerous. They have access to [illegible] men in their moments of ease; when off their guard, the recesses of their hearts are approached and obtained. Thus taken unawares, they develop motives and exhibit the moving power which impels their public acts. Of course these tactics are not new. They are as old as the Christian world. This key to men's hearts is an ancient as well as a modern instrument. But here it is used with more skill and a higher order of refinement. Rumor connects most of the leading administration Senators with this; and even the White House has, at last, it would seem, been successfully assailed in this way. If so, and of course, we do not for the truth of this allegation, the wife of a cabinet officer has been heard to say that it was not altogether without foundation. "How shocking!" she said, "that the quiet, pliant and sensitive Ulysses should allow himself to be controlled by another woman than his wife."

It is no secret here that often, of an evening, Grant may be seen lounging up the avenue, cigar in mouth, toward Twentieth Street, and that the place of destination is the residence of a buxom widow, who holds a permanent position. It is also said that last summer, during one of his flying visits from Long Branch, this fair friend of the President's had five or more private interviews with him at the White House; and rumor further accuses him of paying marked attention to a young woman of the blonde type, who toils for Uncle Sam. These facts will doubtless surprise many who would not have believed Grant.

THE RICE INTEREST.

Yesterday Mr. Wilson presented to the Senate a petition from A. Alpeora Bradley, and other colored citizens of Georgia, asking Congress not to take off the duty on rice. They represent that the rice lands require a great deal of ditching and canal work, and the erection of flood gates, etc., and that they will not be able to [illegible] of labor and capital [illegible] upon them since the war, and a great deal of land recovered; and they state that the repeal of the duty would be very injurious to them. Mr. Wilson moved the reference of the petition to the Committee on Finance, which was agreed to.

Congress certainly stirred up a hornet's nest when it proposed to take off the duty on rice.

CONGRESSIONAL JOTTINGS.

Mr. Hill presented to the Senate yesterday the petition of John Jones Randolph H. Searcy and Wm. S. Lamkin, praying to be released from all obligations as sureties to William E. Quillian, postmaster at Milledgeville, Georgia, which was referred to the committee on post offices and post roads.

In the House yesterday, on motion of Mr. McNeely, Mr. McIntyre's substitute for the pending educational bill was ordered to be printed with other amendments. The merits of the bill and of Mr. McIntyre's substitute was explained in a previous letter.

CROWDED OUT.—A number of local notices crowded out.

THE BALL LAST NIGHT.—The Ball at James' Hall last night was largely attended, and was a brilliant affair.

SUPREME COURT.—Owing to the continued illness of Chief Justice Warner, the Supreme Court was adjourned yesterday until Monday next.

AUCTION SALE THIS MORNING.—Remember the large auction sale this morning by "Barney" Williams. Something for everybody will be offered.

GRAND BALL.—Mechanic Fire Company give a grand ball at new Concordia Hall on the night of the 16th inst., for the benefit of the company.

SUDDEN DEATH.—An old negro woman died suddenly on Monday night on the sidewalk at the corner of Gilmer and Moore streets, it is supposed from a severe attack of phtisic.

ACCIDENT.—Two mules ran away, yesterday, on Forsyth street, and threw a white man on the State Road track. His head was slightly cut by coming in contact with a cross-tie.

MASQUERADE BALL TO-NIGHT.—The grand masquerade and fancy dress ball comes off at the new Concordia Hall to-night. Professors Freyer and Jake Schaus, with fine bands, will discourse music. We learn that it will be largely attended.

JUDGE J. A. HAYDEN.—Judge Hayden, of Athens, passed through our town a few days since, on his way to Florida, in search of a warmer clime te, and better health. We hope he may realize his fondest hopes as to health and temperature.—Early County News

SALE OF THE H. I. KIMBALL HOUSE.—The H. I. Kimball House was sold at sheriff's sale yesterday, under sundry liens (Healy, Berry & Co., and J. G. Peck & Co.,) for the sum of $18,000, to Dr. Joseph Thompson, who holds a mortgage for about $20,000, amount due on the purchase of the lot.

CAN D.—The members of Tallulah Fire Company, on Monday, presented W. R. Biggers, Chief of the Fire Department, with an elegant gold headed cane. Capt. B. B. Crew presented the cane in an ornate and telling speech. Chief Biggers responded in a happy and felicitous style.

THE BEETHOVEN SOCIETY.—The Beethoven Society, at their last meeting, resolved to give a series of concerts, commencing early in April. The present hall being too small, we learn the Society are looking for another. Mrs. W. H. Weems sang magnificently the air from "Traviata." The membership is rapidly increasing.

GARDEN WORK.—February may be said to be the first month that you can successfully work the garden or plant seed. We notice that E. Van Goldtsnoven has just received another fresh supply of Seeds and Onion Sets. He deals in reliable seeds. He has also a fine assortment of plants, flowers and choice bulbs.

ATLANTA REAL ESTATE ASSOCIATION.—The first annual meeting of the above association was held on Monday night. John R. Wallace was re-elected President, and J. M. Gunn, Jr., T. Jones Spencer, G. W. D. Cook and J. H. Mcmullin Directors. During the year they purchased real estate at an actual cost of $19,548 78, the estimated value of which is $34,932. The exhibit is a gratifying one.

SWEARING.—We understand that Governor Smith is besieged every day by parties clamoring for the payment of Executive warrants issued by his predecessors, which would have been paid had the money been on hand. Governor Smith has adopted a rule to pay no warrants relating to the subject matters under investigation at the present time by the legislative committees, nor indeed will he pay warrants of any kind except after the closest scrutiny.

GOOD TABLE.—

Who has good oysters, game and fish,
Beef, mutton, turkey, any dish,
From sausage up to just what you wish?
Who sits up late and opens soon,
Who cooks good things, morn, night and noon,
Who keeps a number one Saloon?
Tim Murphy.

And that is not all: Tim has a number of efficient, neat and polite white attendants to wait on his customers.

RURAL SOUTHERNER.—The February number of the above popular and sterling monthly is on our table. It is printed in fine style, in clear type and on excellent paper. Its columns are replete with interesting, original and selected matter. The translated pun of Farmer Fogy is resumed in this issue, in a letter detailing his dream about emigrating to Texas. Published by Echols & Wilson, at $1 per annum. We are pleased to learn that its subscription list is rapidly increasing.

OGLETHORPE PARK.—Mr. John Rice is the owner of H. I. Kimball for the payment to the city of Atlanta of $64,800 rent for Oglethorpe Park; Mr. Rice has a mortgage on the H. I. Kimball House for some $180,000 or $190,000. Our energetic city Attorney, Captain W. T. Newman, on Monday filed a bill of injunction to restrain Mr. John Rice from transferring or disposing of said mortgage until the bill could be had. Judge W. F. Wright (Judge Hopkins being absent) granted the injunction prayed for by the city Attorney.

DEGIVE'S.—The Berger Family Swiss Bell Ringers gave a delightful entertainment of vocal and instrumental music, and superior character illustrations, at the above place last night. Miss Anna Berger instantly gained, and retained wonderful versatility of talent, performing equally well on the violin, cornet, and makes sweet melodies with the bells. Miss Hermina Berger produced exquisite harmonies on the cow bells. These young ladies are lovely in appearance, and dress very handsomely. Miss Nellie Kemp charmed all by her taste in dress and manner, as well as by her cultivated and sweet singing. She possesses a rich voice of power and great facility of execution. The performances on the flute, by Mr. Stein, was beautiful, evincing a high artistic culture. Sol Smith Russell was as he ever is, inimitable in his line. His character and facial delineations delighted all. The band is an excellent one.

There is an air of refinement about the company which produces pleasant impressions, and causes them to be deserving of a liberal patronage.

GRAND ESCAPADE.

Nine Prisoners Escape in Daylight from the Fulton County Institution—Seventeen Days Wanderings—Fifty Hours away from the Cook—The Size of the Affair.

Tuesday morning, while the rain was coming down in big chunks, a few minutes after 9 o'clock, W. A. Bonnell, one of the guard at the jail, left the door to go to the office across the street to make up his monthly statement. The outer door is left open in the day time to give air to the prisoners; the inner, a grated door, is locked. Mr. Bonnell had scarcely got to the office when the alarm was sounded that the prisoners were escaping. He ran to the door and found it unlocked, a skeleton key being in the lock. He locked it immediately. Fourteen prisoners were in the hall in the act of escaping. Before Mr. Bonnell arrived the two that were arrested for playing the cardboard game, Sargent William Gist, Joseph Fry, the State Road operative, John Bridwell, who stabbed Pat Smith Hogan, of White county and Wells, of Henry county, Hall Gardiner (effecting their escapes by United States Deputy Court, and Clark Trimble, Warner Lockard and George Dahrman (colored) succeeded in escaping. Two of the Gists was the first man to get out, by the iron fencing under Butler street culvert by Sergeant Gist and Parkerson, who gave chase but missed him. The prisoners had before they left the jail they were gone long the mountains towards White county.

"My daughter, you must never listen to [illegible]. Yes, pa, how can I tell that [illegible] unless I listen?"

An irresponsible fellow says of a designing spinster that she is like an army quartermaster, because it is a part of her occupation to advertise for "proposals."

An old bachelor says, suppose all the men in one country, and all the women in another, with a big river between them—good gracious! what lots of poor women would be drowned.

The principles of the Republican party never, perhaps, had so deep a hold upon the public mind in Georgia as now; and yet it is certain that the Republican party—if indeed it can be called an organization—as a party, was never before so odious." Talk is cheap, very sad! But then it is nothing to the misery of the "Republican" party in every Southern State.—Union and American.

Mutual Insurance.—The twenty-five London banks, with their branches, realized a gross profit of £2,181,916 during the past year. Their expenses were only £611,216, and the net profit, £1,570,700. From this it would appear that the London banks expend only about thirty-five per cent. of their gross earnings in carrying on their business, whereas in other countries it is the same higher.
